

Library Stack – Kurzanleitung für Studierende

Library Stack ist Leihbibliothek und Medienarchiv für neue digitale Materialien aus den Bereichen Kunst, Architektur, Design, Philosophie, Medienwissenschaft, Bewegtbild, Sound und visuelle Kultur. Die Inhalte reichen von Publikationen über Podcasts zu Videos und Software-Erweiterungen. Viele der digitalen Medienproduktionen und -formate wurden direkt von Künstler*innen und Aktivist*innen erstellt. Kuratiert wird Library Stack in New York.

Neben den frei zugänglichen Publikationen („Open Stacks“) gibt es auf der Plattform Publikationen, die nur für registrierte Nutzer ausleihbar sind („Reserved Circulation“). Es gibt eine große Auswahl an Suchmöglichkeiten, Querverweisen und die Option, eigene Kollektionen anzulegen und mit anderen zu teilen. Eine gute Übersicht über die Möglichkeiten und Funktionalitäten von LibraryStack finden Sie hier: <https://arts.ac.libguides.com/e-books/librarystack/>

Um auf Library Stack zuzugreifen, müssen Sie sich im WLAN-Netz der HFBK befinden.

- Webadresse: <https://www.librarystack.org/>
- Zugriff auf die „Reserved Collection“ und auf die Option „Add to Bookshelf“ erhalten Sie nur, wenn Sie sich individuell registrieren. Wichtig! Nehmen Sie die Registrierung innerhalb der HFBK vor. Dann wird Ihre Mailadresse als zugehörig zur Hochschule erkannt.

Aber: Wählen Sie bei Are you affiliated with one of our participating institutions? - None aus!

Library Stack – short guidelines for students

Library Stack is a lending library and media archive for new digital materials in the fields of art, architecture, design, philosophy, media studies, moving image, sound and visual culture. Content ranges from publications and podcasts to videos and software extensions. Many of the digital media productions and formats have been created directly by artists and activists. LibraryStack is curated from New York.

In addition to freely accessible publications ("Open Stacks"), there are publications on the platform that can only be borrowed by registered users ("Reserved Circulation"). There are a wide range of search options, cross-references and the ability to create your own collections and share them with others. A good overview of the features of LibraryStack can be found here: <https://arts.ac.libguides.com/e-books/librarystack/>

You can access Library Stack from the HFBK WiFi network:

- Web address: <https://www.librarystack.org/>

- Important: Register while you are in the HFBK WiFi network. Your e-mail address will then be recognized as belonging to the university. But: Select Are you affiliated with one of our participating institutions? - None!
